Evening of Decadent Dessert

Help local children with special needs by supporting one of Red Deer's premier fundraising events.

On behalf of Aspire Special Needs Resource Centre, I would like to invite you to be a part of the 22nd annual Evening of Decadent Dessert, which will be held on April 29, 2016. For over two decades, businesses, organizations and individuals from across central Alberta have come together to support this event, which has grown into one of the most elegant and successful fundraisers in our community. In 2015, 530 guests attended Evening of Decadent Dessert and raised over $150,000, with all proceeds going to the programs, services and scholarships at Aspire.

As a charitable organization, Aspire Special Needs Resource Centre provides hope to children with special needs, the families who love them and the communities that care for them. We do this in a variety of ways, depending on the specific needs of the child and the family. In our specialized preschool program, for example, children receive assistance to help them develop skills ranging from walking and talking to learning the skills for school. In the assessment programs and services, children and their families receive strategies, answers and support to help them now and in the future. As a resource centre, Aspire provides information and assistance to people from across the community.

We invite you to support Evening of Decadent Dessert with a donation of cash, merchandise or services. These donations will be included in our auctions or raffles during the event.

Sponsorship opportunities are also outlined on the following page.

Thank you for investing in the exceptional children at Aspire Special Needs Resource Centre. If you have questions regarding Evening of Decadent Dessert or any other sponsorship opportunity that may arise, please do not hesitate to contact me at 403-340-2606 or mvine@aspirepecialneeds.ca.

Sincerely,

Melissa Vine

Aspire provides hope to families.

On October 29, 2010, our family was blessed with a perfect son, Braydon. Weighing in at 7 pounds 4 ounces, he was a happy healthy boy. He was much fussier than my daughter was and refused to sleep at night for months, but I assumed it was because he was a boy! I didn't really notice the warning signs until we saw other babies, and it became very obvious that my beautiful boy just seemed to stop developing. He wouldn't respond when we called his name, he played alone, and he had horribly violent upsets daily that could last for hours. He just seemed to live in his own world, rarely making eye contact with anyone. After many specialist appointments and months of waiting, our pediatrician confirmed my suspicion: my precious boy was diagnosed with Autism.

Our first step was to start with therapeutic interventions as soon as possible, so we registered Braydon in the EASE program through Aspire. I didn't know anything about Aspire, but after a month of him attending EASE, I knew he was in the very best place he could be. I have said from the beginning and I still believe firmly that Angels work at Aspire. The unconditional compassion, patience, and earnest desire the staff have for these beautiful children to succeed, warms my heart and I couldn't be more proud that my son has had the opportunity to grow there. His intense behavioural meltdowns have improved dramatically, and his sleeping has improved, but most importantly he is able to come out of his Autism world and is able to connect in ways that I once thought were impossible. Although he is still non-verbal, I have hope that one day he may speak – a hope that at one point I didn't dare dream of.

“I didn't know anything about Aspire, but after a month of him attending EASE, I knew he was in the very best place he could be.”

Although Braydon's journey is still just in the beginning, he has been given the tools through Aspire to be the best he can be, and they have given our family the best gift of all – hope.
